Overview

Purpose of the Asset Map

Asset Mapping is the process of taking a “snapshot” of a system and its stakeholders at a point in time. North Dakota’s Asset Map is a working document, used as a tool to:

- Document Existing Stakeholder Engagement Assets: Target Groups and Initiatives
- Encourage Systematic and Strategic Thinking About Next Steps, Ultimately Saving Time and Resources
- Reference When Brainstorming Potential Target Groups to Engage
- Expand and Improve on Current Systems and Processes Within the North Dakota Department of Human Services (ND DHS)

Stakeholder engagement, including service users, is a critical component of person-centered thinking, planning, and practice because it can connect and support allies that are conducting similar engagement activities; build mutual respect and trust among groups; improve decision-making processes; and enhance statewide strategies, program designs, and implementation techniques.

Development Process

As part of the National Center on Advancing Person-Centered Practices and Systems (NCAPPS) Technical Assistance (TA) received by ND DHS, a cross-division workgroup representing eight divisions – Behavioral Health, Adults and Aging Services, Children and Family Services, Developmental Disabilities, Vocational Rehabilitation, Medical Services (Medicaid Office), Administration and Field Services – is facilitating the development of the statewide plan, ensuring that person-centered practices are consistent and fully implemented across all DHS divisions to establish a system-wide culture for person-centered practices. Program Administrators within each division will be engaged and responsible for executing a self-assessment, conducting training, and implementing person-centered policies and procedures. A subset of workgroup participants met with subjective matter experts, Collective Insight and HSRI, to brainstorm target groups and initiatives and establish the draft.

Process

The Asset Map is a working document and this tool will be reviewed and updated as each division participates in the initial self-assessment process and during the ongoing re-evaluation. To this end, during NCAPPS TA, the Project Manager will maintain the document.

Scope of the North Dakota Asset Map

The People We Are Aiming to Serve

Our goal is to develop and execute a statewide plan to enhance overall commitment to person-centered practice for all disability populations served by the ND DHS and its multiple service partners.
